

GLOBAL SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGY, INC.

Operations Manager/Marine Biology

Founded in 1991, Global Science & Technology, Inc. (GST) has built a highly specialized workforce that includes experts in key domains of science, engineering, enterprise data systems, communications, and information technology. GST is U.S. based and well-known in the earth science community.

Customers include: NOAA, NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, NASA Headquarters, Jet Propulsion Laboratory, U.S. Air Force, and the Department of Defense. Visit us at www.gst.com.

GST is recruiting for the proposed Operations Manager position which will be located in Silver Spring, MD.

Applicants should have experience as a Scientist/Marine Biologist/Analyst with background in marine science, physical and biological oceanography, and/or coral reef ecosystem processes.

Requirements:

- Some experience with use and interpretation of satellite infrared and visible data and in development of remote sensing products and/or applications is required.
- Computer skills needed to complete this task are a working knowledge of one or more of: IDL and/or MATLAB, FORTRAN and/or C/C++, an appropriate statistical and numerical package such as Origin 6.1, and HTML.
- Strong oral and written communication skills and administrative experience are also necessary.

Further inquiries should be addressed to: careers@gst.com.